

NANE NANE PHOTO REPORT

ARUSHA, MBEYA, MOROGORO, SIMIYU

NANE NANE PHOTO STORY

Kilimanjaro Regional Commissioner Anna Mgwiri receives a gift hamper from PASS Arusha branch manager Hellen Wakuganda, during a tour of the exhibition booths at the Nane nane grounds Arusha. The RC lauded the work that has been done by PASS in financially linking agribusiness entrepreneurs with financial institutions as well as assisting them in business development services.

Excited members of PASS staff participating at the Arusha Nane Nane exhibitions.

The staff have exhibited optimism that PASS will once again emerge victorious this year, due to its continued engagement with farmers, particularly linking them with financial institutions and offering loan guarantees to clients. PASS has also been instrumental in helping entrepreneurs design rewarding business plans .

Assistant Minister for Agriculture Hussein Bashe listens to PASS beneficiaries present at the Simiyu Nanenane grounds. Over 9000 agribusiness projects have benefited from PASS financial linkages and guarantee since 2002. PASS, Mwanza branch manager Langelika Kalebi spoke to the dignitary.

PASS hosts students from Bariadi Alliance who were keen to learn more about fish farming, as PASS staff Eva Mwachila intensifies awareness creation about PASS services. PASS is leaving no one behind as far as information sharing is concerned.

PASS staff members Irene Mmbaga, Mary Kessy and Langelika Kalebi attend to information seekers at the Nanenane grounds in Simiyu. PASS has a dedicated team of staff spread across the four main Nanenane grounds of Mbeya, Arusha, Morogoro and Simiyu for purposes of ensuring that citizens get as much information about PASS as possible.

Minister for Livestock and Fisheries Hon. Luhaga Mpina acknowledging PASS work as presented by PASS Business Development Director Kiilo Lussewa at the Nane Nane grounds in Morogoro. The minister said there was need for more cooperation with government agencies so as to reach more people.

PASS MD Nicomed Bohay communicating to PASS audiences using radio. Radio has proved to be a very significant tool in communicating agricultural information

PASS Business Development Manager Hamisi Mmoni & Business Development Officer Emilian Barongo share information with clients at Simiyu's Nane nane grounds

*A section of PASS exhibition booths in Morogoro and Simiyu that have attracted crowds .
Nanenane is one of PASS 'most important functions every year.*

Eva Idd, PASS Business Development Officer leading the agribusiness innovation centre exhibitions in Dodoma. She is showcasing PASS-AIC's goat fattening strategies in Kongwa where youths are receiving coaching and mentorship on goat fattening techniques for agri business

Thank You